State	Is there a student-level record for each student by subject area who was not tested on the applicable grade-level statewide exam in a given year?	If no, does the SEA receive aggregate counts of students by grade and subject who were not tested in a given year sorted by the reason for not being tested?	Does the state collect and maintain the reasons why each student was not tested according to codes supplied by the state?	If no, does the SEA receive aggregate counts of the numbers of students not tested by the reason they were not tested by grade and subject?
